

REMARKS

Applicants submit the present Amendment to conform the title, claims and abstract to the subject matter of the present application, which excludes subject matter which was the subject matter examined on the merits in the parent of this divisional application.

Specifically, the title, claims and abstract of the parent of this application have been amended to exclude a method of treating angiogenesis.

In addition, the specification has been amended to include a complete history of related applications.

Prompt examination of the claims currently in this new divisional application is respectfully urged.

Respectfully submitted,
